

Jurisdiction and Venue Decisions Involving the Court of Continuing, Exclusive Jurisdiction

The court issues orders for the protection of the child under Chapter 262.

NOTE:
A dissolution filed after a DFPS SAPCR does not force transfer to the divorce court.
TFC § 262.203(c)

Is there a prior final order regarding this child in a different county?

Yes

No

The court that issued the final order has established Continuing, Exclusive Jurisdiction.
TFC §155.001

Is there a pending suit in another county regarding this child?

Yes

No

A motion to transfer and consolidation order is necessary.
See TFC §§6.407; 155.202

The Ch. 262 court has jurisdiction to issue a final order.

Has the child resided in the current county for at least six months?

No

Yes

Transfer to the Ch. 262 court is mandatory and that court can order transfer from the CCEJ.
TFC §§155.201(b); 262.203(a)(2)

Transfer to the Ch. 262 court is discretionary.
TFC §155.202.
(convenience of parties and interests of justice); and the CCEJ orders the transfer.

Transfer to the CCEJ authorized subject to TFC Ch. 155 and §262.203(a)(1)

Transfer pursuant to change of venue Ch. 103

